

The USCCB (United States Conference of Catholic Bishops) provides guidelines for safe environment programs to protect children and young people. These programs aim to create a secure environment within the Church community. While the specific location for USCCB posters may vary depending on the context, here are some general recommendations:

1. Parish Facilities: Display posters prominently in parish facilities such as church buildings, meeting rooms, and community spaces. Consider placing them near entrances, bulletin boards, or areas where parents and children gather.
2. Schools and Religious Education Centers: If your parish has a school or offers religious education classes, place posters in classrooms, hallways, and administrative offices. These areas are frequented by students, parents, and staff.
3. Youth Ministry Spaces: For youth groups, confirmation classes, or other youth ministry activities, ensure that posters are visible in the meeting spaces. Encourage open discussions about safety and boundaries.
4. Sacramental Preparation Areas: Display posters in areas where children receive sacramental preparation (e.g., First Communion, Confirmation). This reinforces the commitment to a safe environment during these important moments.
5. Online Platforms: In addition to physical posters, consider sharing safe environment messages on your parish website, social media channels, and newsletters. Online communication reaches a broader audience.

Remember that the goal of these posters is to raise awareness, educate, and promote vigilance in safeguarding children and young people. By placing them strategically, you can contribute to a safer environment for everyone involved in Catholic school and parish life.

PROMISE to Protect

The Catholic Church is committed to ensuring the safety of children and young people and providing pastoral outreach to victims and survivors of sexual abuse by clergy.

The Church's mission to protect and heal stems from the Gospel: the life and teachings of Jesus Christ provide us with the perfect foundation for our efforts to create safe environments for children.

Jesus said, "Let the children come to me, and do not prevent them; for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these" (Mt 19:14).

"Families need to know that the Church is making every effort to protect their children. They should also know that they have every right to turn to the Church with full confidence, for it is a safe and secure home. Consequently, priority must not be given to any other kind of concern, whatever its nature, such as the desire to avoid scandal, since there is absolutely no place in ministry for those who abuse minors."

—Pope Francis, Letter,
Feb. 2, 2015

Pledge to HEAL

The first obligation of the Church with regard to victims is for healing and reconciliation. Dioceses and eparchies continue to reach out to every person who has been a victim of sexual abuse as a minor by anyone in church service, whether that abuse is recent or occurred in the past.

If you suffered abuse, it was not your fault. If you are a victim of sexual abuse by a priest, deacon, or individual representing the Catholic Church, there are several things you can do:

- Contact the appropriate law enforcement agency, which can help determine options for making a criminal complaint.
- Contact a local child protection agency, a private attorney, a support group, an abuse hotline, or a mental health professional.
- Contact a diocesan or eparchial victim assistance coordinator who is available to help victims and survivors make a formal complaint of abuse to the diocese or eparchy, arrange a personal meeting with the bishop or his representative, and obtain support for the needs of the individual and families.

The CHARTER

Since 2002, the bishops of the United States have carried out their ministries to protect and heal in all dioceses and eparchies through the implementation of the Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People.

The Charter directs action on the following matters:

- Outreach and healing to victims and survivors
- Prompt and effective responses to allegations of abuse
- Cooperation with public authorities
- Removal of offenders from ministry
- Safe environment training programs for clergy, employees, volunteers, and children that include information on prevention, identification, and response and reporting of abuse
- Background checks for all clergy, employees, and volunteers that have regular contact with children
- An annual audit of dioceses and eparchies to ensure compliance with Charter guidelines

"We remain ever vigilant in the protection of children and the outreach to those most harmed by sexual abuse. The Church cannot become complacent with what has been accomplished."

Archbishop Joseph
E. Kurtz, 2015
